OUR STORY

Craufurdland Castle Estate offers an immersive visitor experience, deeply rooted in over 800 years of illustrious Craufurd family history and royal connections, both past and present.

The 29th Laird, Simon Houison Craufurd - 'Royal Hand-washer' and a member of the esteemed Royal Company of Archers, the King's official bodyguard in Scotland - personally leads all of our tour experiences.

Simon is deeply passionate about his family's history and the heritage of the estate. He warmly welcomes heritage enthusiasts and takes great pride in sharing remarkable and often little-known stories of his ancestors.

The Craufurds of Craufurdland occupy a unique place in Scottish history- an unbroken thread woven into the fabric of the nation's past. With ancestral ties to figures such as Mary, Queen of Scots, James V, Charles I, Robert Burns, Sir Walter Scott, and Sir William Wallace, the stories of Craufurdland are truly unparalleled, captivating, authentic, and a testament to the enduring wonder of Scotland's heritage.
